A warm feeling when you look in the mirror

Eskimo's Supermirror radiator represents beauty, inside and out. A high performance, clean lined radiator and mirror in one.

Understanding that there is a desire for dual functionality within interior design and the fact that we all secretly love looking at ourselves (or for those in denial we mean opening up the room with a reflective object), we designed the Supermirror.

Supermirror is available in a wide range of sizes and formats from full length mirrors to wide landscape versions. Bespoke sizes can be created to suit absolutely any space.

They are made with gorgeously super high polished stainless steel and although we don't boast that it's 100% up to the standard of a glass mirror*, it's pretty damn close.

Not only that but they are hard wearing and easily cleaned AND, wait for it, they don't fog up (anti-mist), so superb for the bathroom. Heated towel rails can be included, and for that floating mirror "I'm definitely not a radiator" look, we can supply them with our unique hidden valve option. And yes, they're available in both electric and hot water versions with hidden valves if specified.

Several sizes are held in stock for next day delivery from our UK factory.
